“I am an auction buyer, having done business with most of the major auction houses in the United States, so I know a good auctioneer when I meet one, and so it was when I met Karen Rigdon, Director of Decorative Arts & Design at Heritage Auctions in Dallas. Karen makes her customers – whether they are buying or selling – feel that she is looking out for their best interests. She is forthright, honest and knowledgeable, qualities that are necessary for sustained success in the auction business. I always found Karen ready to discuss the value of a piece, its condition and rarity. These are the reasons why I have done business with Karen Rigdon over several years and will continue. She never disappoints.”
